TWO INJURED IN UNUSUAL CRASH ON LORD'S HILL

Dixon Sedan Knocked Body Of Big Truck Off Chassis

One of the worst automobile accidents in this locality in recent months occurred this morning about 3:30 on Lord's hill west of the city when an Essex sedan, driven by Clarence Eakle of Dixon, crashed into a heavily loaded furniture van belonging to the New Deal Furniture Cartage Company of Chicago, which was driven by Hans Larson of Chicago. Eakle was the worst injured and in a critical condition at the Katherine Shaw Bethel hospital suffering from fractures of the left hip, left arm and left leg, a skull fracture and cuts and bruises about the head and body. Mrs. Eakle was cut about the head and suffered body bruises but no bones were broken.

The sedan, belonging to Gus Sorbe of this city, was completely demolished. Sorbe was thrown through the top of the car but escaped without serious injury. The force of the crash tore the body from the chassis of the truck, but the driver escaped. State Highway Officer Edward Mahan, who was called to the scene of the crash, hurried the injured to the hospital.

Big Load of Furniture
The truck contained a shipment of 80 pieces of sample furniture which were being rushed to Rock Island, where they were to be inspected, and were to be rushed back to Elgin today. The samples were in part of a large order to be used in furnishing a new hotel in Pittsburgh, Pa. The furniture was badly damaged and the truck completely wrecked.

Reports from the hospital shortly before noon today were to the effect that Mr. Eakle's condition showed some improvement and that it was expected that he might recover.

George Prescott, residing at 203 East Third street, Sterling, reported at the police station this morning at 3:30, a crash which took place near the Crawford Maples corner in which two cars were badly damaged but the occupants escaped uninjured.

One of the Northwestern stage buses, west bound, broke a spring at the foot of Lord's hill last evening about 6:30. The passengers were transferred to another bus and continued on their way, while the damage was repaired here.

Indianapolis Man Is Believed To Have Been Kidnaped

Indianapolis, Sept. 30—(AP)—Victor Lyle was released at Nashville, Ind., this morning after being kidnaped from his home here last night by a man who is believed to be one of the ten prisoners who escaped last Tuesday from the Indiana state prison.

His home is on the west side of the city in the vicinity of the district where state troopers reported a man had fallen from a car which they were chasing last night.

Lyle was returned to state police headquarters here and shown photographs of the escaped prisoners. He picked out the photograph of Joseph Jenkins and said it resembled the man who forced him to leave his home last night and drive to Nashville, about forty miles south of this city.

Al G. Feeney, State Safety Director, after hearing his story, directed state police to guard roads along the southern portion of the state and to watch particularly the highways leading toward Louisville, Ky.

The car which officers were pursuing last night is believed to be the one stolen earlier in the evening at Terre Haute from Fred Ratchette. Three men forced him to drive to the edge of the city where they threw him from his machine and drove away.

Arthur Handell Is Badly Injured In Fall This Morning

Arthur C. Handell, 1404 First street, painting contractor and Past Commander of Dixon Post No. 12, American Legion, was reported in a critical condition at the Katherine Shaw Bethel hospital this afternoon, the result of a fall from a staging at the Borden condenser plant this morning. Both legs and both feet were broken and he was said to be suffering from a very serious head injury.

He was engaged in painting over the driveway in the condenser plant about 10:30 this morning when it is believed that he slipped from the scaffold, falling a distance of about 25 feet to the paved driveway. He was immediately rushed to the hospital and this afternoon it was reported that his condition was considered quite serious.

Officer Feared To Tell Of Being Given His Liberty

Valparaiso, Ind., Sept. 30—(AP)—Ill from lack of food, but otherwise unharmed, Sheriff Charles Neal of Corydon, Ind., was safe today after having been subjected to three days' hardship as a captive in the hands of four escaped convicts, who were believed for a while to have put him to death.

Liberated near Hobart, Ind., early yesterday, the Sheriff, accompanied by James Clark, one of the abductors, who later was captured, made his way to Gary, where he was found by Captain Matt Leach, head of the Indiana State Police last night.

Captain Leach charged in a statement that the Sheriff's long delay in notifying the authorities of his release was "apparently a neglect of duty," but the Sheriff protested that he had been afraid the convicts would harm him.

Followed Driving Instructions And Ran Into Trouble

LaSalle, Sept. 30—Frank Keren, Dixon, followed driving instructions implicitly and they ended almost disastrously at 5 o'clock Friday morning, when he drove into the west end of the steel bridge on East Fifth street in Peru, Keren, bound for Mt. Vernon, had been told to follow the car line to reach LaSalle on route 2. In the dense fog of early morning the Dixon motorist kept his gaze riveted on the tracks. The end of the bridge suddenly loomed into view but before he was able to stop his DeSoto sedan, it had struck the end of the span, wrecking the right front fender and bumper. He drove to a garage where the necessary repairs were made and then continued on his trip.

Sublette Driver Injured In Crash

Peru, Sept. 30—A gasoline truck driven by John H. Becker of Sublette was totally wrecked about noon Thursday, when it crashed head-on into a concrete culvert near the Funsinn farm on route 2, north of Peru. Becker was cut and bruised in the crash. The wreck was attributed to the explosion of a front tire of the truck which threw the machine out of control. Becker was reported to have been thrown from the cab into the ditch. The tank was torn off the chassis and other parts of the truck were scattered a distance of about 100 feet. Becker was able to save about half of the 400 gallons of gasoline which filled the tank.

DIXON COUNCIL OF UNEMPLOYED MET FRIDAY EVE

Purposes Of Organization Explained: Mayor Dixon Spoke

The council chamber at the city hall was crowded to its capacity last evening at a public meeting of the Unemployed Council of Dixon. The gathering did not entirely represent the council membership and there were several persons who were not unemployed. Wade Pierce presided and at the opening of the program, issued an appeal for volunteer workers, a man and woman in each of the eleven precincts of the city, to conduct a canvass for members. Leo Berard volunteered in the first precinct but no other names were forthcoming when the chairman called the eighth precinct and he halted the plea. A general call for volunteer workers brought forth two women and three men.

The chairman explained the purpose of the organization is to secure for its members decent food, clothing and housing. Evictions or denials of food or other complaints are to be reported to the officers of the organization for investigation. The organization is national in (Continued on Page 2)

HEAD NATIONAL DEPOSITORS' COMMITTEE SUICIDE

Frank Schrenk, Philadelphia Banker, Takes His Life

Philadelphia, Sept. 30—(AP)—A pistol fired into his mouth ended the life of Frank H. Schrenk, 44-year-old president of the North City Trust Company and chairman of the National Depositors' Committee, which has been seeking ways of reopening closed banks.

His body was found early today on the floor of his office in a mid-city building. A pistol lay nearby and police said he had committed suicide.

He was last seen alive by a night watchman in the building about four hours before his body was found. Investigators were at a loss to account for his act, but intimated financial worries probably actuated him.

The trust company he headed, with deposits of $650,000 has been operating on a restricted basis since the national banking holiday.

Since that time Schrenk has been actively engaged in coordinating efforts of depositors and bankers toward the reopening of banks closed by the government.

Prominent in athletics during his college days, he was a former amateur welterweight boxing champion of Pennsylvania.

TELLING BLOWS DELIVERED AT GANGSTERS BY JURIES IN OKLAHOMA CITY AND EDWARDSVILLE

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Organized society, led by its appointed officers, struck mercilessly today at its criminal enemy which works in the dark and barter human victims for cash.

Thirteen men and women felt the force of the blow as juries in Oklahoma and Illinois grimly handed in the verdict, "guilty", in two notorious kidnaping trials.

The federal government marked its first score in the fight against kidnaping under the federal "Lindbergh kidnaping law" when a jury in Oklahoma City convicted seven persons, one a woman, for the $200,000 kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel, wealthy oil man.

Six other kidnapers, one a woman, were convicted and three of them sentenced to life in prison at Edwardsville, Ill., for the kidnaping of 77-year-old August Luer, Alton, Ill., banker.

"This is just the first skirmish," warned Joseph B. Keenan, Assistant United States Attorney General.

But even as the state and federal government struck telling blows, George M. Cox, wealthy ship owner, at New Orleans, announced that his wife and baby son, together with Mrs. Cox' parents had disappeared, and expressed a belief that they had been kidnaped.

Cox said a telephone call had come to him from Chicago last night, asking if word of a $25,000 reward for their return was authentic, and advising him his family was "well and happy."

Chicago police shortly after arrested a man named William Davis, 27, of Louisiana.

The hunt, meanwhile, went on for those of the ten escaped Indiana penitentiary prisoners still at large.

Three men, believed to be the escaped convicts held up and robbed the Pipestone (Minn.) National Bank of $1,600, escaping after taking three girls as shields. The women were later released.

Victor Lyle was released in Nashville, Ind., by another man also thought to be one of the convicts yet at large, who had kidnaped him last night. He was tentatively identified by Lyle as one of the escaped men.

Luer Kidnapers Given Three Of Bailey's Alleged Conspirators Were Acquitted

Edwardsville, Ill., Sept. 30—(AP)—Prison terms ranging from life to five years were assessed today by a jury trying five men and a woman for the kidnaping of August Luer, Alton, Ill. banker.

Eugene Norvell, 33; Percy Michael Fitzgerald, 40; and Mrs. Lillian Chesson, 50, were given life sentences. Other sentences: Mike Musiala, 45, twenty years; Christ Nicola Gitchco, 56, five years; Charles Chesson, 57, five years.

The state had demanded the death penalty for the kidnaping of the 77-year-old banker and meat packer, who was dragged from his home the night of July 10 and held for five days before he was released after an unsuccessful effort to collect $100,000 ransom.

To Jury Thursday P. M.
Deliberations of the jury, which began Thursday at 4:55 P. M. after the trial had run 14 days, ended formally at 10:10 A. M. today when a buzzer sounded in the court room to announce that the verdict had been reached.

The prisoners then were ordered brought to the court room. Word that the verdict had been reached spread rapidly and the court room soon was crowded. The prisoners, handcuffed together, were marched before the judge.

Mrs. Chesson was named in statements made by other defendants as the "finger woman" who pointed out Luer to the other participants in the plot as a likely (Continued on Page 2)

U. S. Leads All Others in Useful Inventions

Since the United States patent office was opened in 1791 American inventive genius has developed more great and useful inventions than all the rest of the world combined. Greedy Boa Constrictor

Its own greed led to the death of a six-foot boa constrictor at Balboa, C. Z., recently. The reptile entered a collection of game birds kept at the Balboa Gun club and ate so many of the smaller birds that it was unable to get out by the same hole by which it had made its entry. It was still a prisoner in the cage when members of the club arrived on the scene and, finding the bird-stuffed reptile there, speedily put it to death.

Has Fine Start
The drive starts with one thousand dollars in initial gifts.

Lester Wilhelm, joint treasurer of the drive announced this morning that supporters of the Girl and Boy Scouts have already shown their willingness to keep our girls and boys at the same high standard of life.

Only a few have been able to give their donations but all are willing. Monday morning all citizens of Dixon will be given the opportunity to do their bit towards Scouting. Even the smallest donation will bring Scouting and happiness to another girl and boy. Let us not fail our trusting youth.

Heading the drive will be two of Scouting's most enthusiastic and able workers. As chairman of the Girl Scout's financial committee is Mrs. John G. Ralston. The newly elected Vice-President of the Black Hawk area, J. Frank Bennett will act as chairman of the Boy Scout financial committee.

Drive Starts Monday
Monday morning at 9:00 o'clock the city council chamber will hold one of the most enthusiastic groups ever gathered in Dixon. Over 150 women are expected. These women will be going out on the behalf of the Dixon youth. They are proud to donate their services, because they are working to give our children a better chance to live a fine, worthwhile life and to tide them over the possible heartbreaks that come in an unhappy childhood.

Help these women Monday by giving them your kindest consideration when they call at your door. Their cause is worthy! Please listen, then GIVE, if you can and will!

Nabbed in Ford Kidnaping Plot

Accused of being a member of a gang that plotted the abduction of Edsel Ford or one of his sons, Joseph (Red) O'Riordan, above, Detroit and St. Louis gangster, was arrested in Los Angeles, after being sought for three years on a warrant charging him with kidnaping a Detroit merchant. Mrs. Joseph Crawford.

Her husband, who with Gilcho, received a five-year sentence, the slightest of the prison terms, was the only one of the six to smile as the prisoners were taken back to their cells.

Norvell, designated a leader in the abduction plot, confessed from the witness stand that he helped plan and execute the kidnaping, but declared he did so because he feared Mrs. Chessen, and "Irish" Fitzgerald, a fugitive in the case.

Fitzgerald, St. Louis ex-convict, admitted after his arrest that he aided Norvell, O'Malley and Grace Adams, also a fugitive, in the actual kidnaping. He was the only defendant who did not take the stand, apparently because of his criminal record would then have been revealed to the jury.

Woman Helped With Note
Mrs. Chessen, besides being the "finger woman," also was shown by evidence to have assisted O'Malley and Norvell in writing a note $16,000, sent to Luer after the kidnaping was released.

She denied on the stand that she did more than help Norvell spell some words used in the note.

Musiala allowed the kidnapers to hold Luer for five days and nights in a cramped and musty hole beneath a tool shed on a farm near Eagle Park.

Gilcho was shown to have allowed Norvell, acting for Fitzgerald and O'Malley, to hide Luer for two hours immediately after the abduction in the cellar of the Gilcho grocery, at Madison, Ill.

The evidence showed, however, that at conferences between Norvell and Mrs. Chessen and Norvell in a motor car from which the note demanding $16,000 was thrown.

Everyone enjoys a visit to the Walgreen stores at the Century of Progress. It is a nice place for luncheon.

scope, it was stated, with a view of putting the unemployed back to work and membership dues amount to five cents a quarter.

Federal Program
Mayor G. C. Dixon was the speaker of the evening and discussed briefly the federal relief program, whereby the government pays 30 per cent of public improvements to furnish employment in communities. He stated that more than $17,000,000 of this federal fund had been turned over to the state of Illinois. He then told of the efforts of the Dixon city council to formulate a program of proposed improvements and stated that he personally feared delay in these projects, through government red tape. He told his listeners that he believed that the administration at Washington was making an honest effort to provide employment.

In outlining the program of improvements suggested by the Dixon city council the mayor first called attention to the Lowell park road, which he stated had been approved by the state Highway Department and which he had hoped might be constructed this fall. The Colony or Hazelwood road, he said, had also been approved by the highway department.

The mayor stated that he had no criticism of property owners who objected to these proposed improvements which are now in the county court awaiting action. He cited one instance where he stated a prominent citizen who opposed the construction of a new bridge across Rock river at Galena avenue had stated that he would oppose the improvement even in face of the fact that the government would pay the total expense and the city would not be required to spend one cent.

Explained Light Plans
He called attention to the antique ornamental street lighting system which it is proposed to rebuild at an estimated cost of $15,000 and which will light 13 blocks in the downtown district. Property owners, largely on Galena avenue, have filed objections to this improvement involving slightly more than $600, the mayor stated, payment for which can be spread over ten years. He added that the present system was a hazard and was defective in its entirety.

The present brick paving in the business district, which the Mayor stated was laid in 1895 or 1896, provides an adequate foundation for a satisfactory and economical resurfacing project to cost, $9,695. Against this improvement, he stated, four property owners whose assessments would total $254 spread over ten years, had filed objections.

Anticipation for many years for the improvement of Galena avenue from River street south, the Mayor said, had resulted in the widening and resurfacing project being formulated by the council at an estimated cost of $11,817, the government to pay 30 per cent of the total and buy all of the bonds at four per cent interest. In this proposed improvement, the Mayor said, property owners whose assessments would total $2,311 had filed objections in the county court, and added that the names of the objectors may be found out by consulting the public records in the county court. In this connection the Mayor stated that he had been reliably informed that the new Galena avenue bridge which is being sought in the city's federal aid program would be completed within the next year.

Sewage Disposal
Referring to the sewage disposal system as planned in the city's program of improvements, the mayor stated that the government was encouraging building of such plants and these improvements were looked upon as furnishing a larger amount of employment. Notice is to be served upon the city of Dixon soon ordering the city to stop contaminating Rock river with the city's sewage, the mayor said. He added that any property owner affected, living west of the city, could secure a court injunction restraining the city from continuing to contaminate Rock river by dumping its sewage in the stream. He estimated the cost of this improvement at in excess of $200,000, of which amount, he said, the government would furnish $60,000, and purchase the bonds at a rate of interest of four per cent for a period of 25 or possibly 30 years. The Auxiliary is very grateful to the Reynolds Wire Company for a large number of muslin sacks, donated through Mrs. Ben Snyder. A number of these sacks will be made into dish towels and sold, while the rest will be used for carpet rags and sent to the United States Veterans' Bureau Hospital, North Chicago.

With their eyes on the almighty dollar only, people are selling their birthright for broken faith, financial delusion and spiritual blight.

The ladies planned a food and doughnut sale to be held soon.

A generous free will offering, amounting to $10.70 was collected, besides the floral pennies.

After the usual closing exercises delicious refreshments were served by the committee, Mesdames Heckman, Ackert and Miss Edna Norvell.

Art Exhibit All Next Week by Miss Constance Wingert

Miss Constance Wingert will hold an exhibit of her paintings and portrait drawings on the second floor of the Geisenheimer & Co. store beginning Tuesday, Oct. 3rd, and continuing through the week.

Miss Wingert has recently returned from New York City where she has been studying art for the last three years at the Phoenix Art Institute and Grand Central School of Art. During this time she studied under Gordon Stevenson, distinguished portrait painter, who has a background of study and painting in Madrid, Paris, London, Edinburgh, and Amsterdam. He is a pupil of John S. Sargent, Sorolla in Spain, and Mucha in Paris.

She studied also under Arthur Woelfle, N. A., Franklin Booth, Thomas Fogarty and Lauros Phoenix.

In addition to school work this last year Miss Wingert worked up quite a business in portrait drawings, her pictures being sent to Ireland, Italy, and various points in the U. S. Probably the most successful portrait was done for Mrs. J. H. Van Allen of Newport and New York, a member of one of New York's most prominent families.

Mr. Van Allen's mother was a Vanderbilt and his sister, Louise Aster Van Allen, last fall divorced Prince Midvanti who attained much publicity in June when he married Barbara Hutton, Woolworth heiress, in Paris.

Holdridge-Wheelock Wedding Event of This Morn in Dixon

Miss Aida May Holdridge of Sterling, for a number of years employed in the local offices of the state highway department, and Elbert Keith Wheelock, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wheelock, 804 First Ave., Rock Falls, were quietly married at 10:30 o'clock this morning at the First Methodist church in this city, Dr. Gilbert Stansell, pastor, performing the simple ring ceremony in the presence of members of the families of the young people. They were unattended.

The bride was modestly gowned in black and white, a combination of sheer and satin, a smart hat, and harmonizing accessories completing her attractive costume. After the ceremony the young folks left on a brief wedding trip, returning from which they will be at home to their friends in the Gazette apartments, Sterling, after Oct. 15th.

The bride of this morning, who has been honored by a number of pre-nuptial social affairs, is a native of Sterling and is a graduate of the Sterling township high school and has many friends in both Sterling and Dixon.

Mr. Wheelock is a graduate of the Rock Falls high school and is a young man of sterling qualities, being now associated with his father in the latter's furniture and undertaking business in Rock Falls.

The many friends of the young people will unite in best wishes for their happy and prosperous married life.

May Take Part NRA Activities

Interviewed on the part the League of Women Voters and its members to make in the great adventure of the National Recovery Administration, Mrs. Ralph B. Treadway of Glen Ellyn, president of the Illinois League of Women Voters, calls attention to a communication just received from the League's national president, Miss Belle Sherwin. "In her letter," says Mrs. Treadway, "Miss Sherwin has pointed out some of our immediate responsibilities, and I know there will be whole-hearted cooperation on them from members in Illinois. As Miss Sherwin states:

"The National Industrial Recovery Act has set in motion two currents of activity into which every one in the country is drawn directly or indirectly: (1) by the formulation of the Codes of Fair Competition by industries and trade associations and (2) by the adoption by employers of the President's Re-employment Agreement (PPA). There has been no public document in our time so significant as that act in respect to our economic and social welfare.

"Both the Codes of Fair Competition and the President's Re-employment Agreement have already created new responsibilities for the League of Women Voters as an organization. The chief features of the codes and the agreement which touch the support program of the League are two—the prohibition of child labor, so swiftly gained as to leave us breathless, and a frequently recurring differential proposed between the minimum wage rates for men and women, though it has been eliminated in some instances as notably in the dry goods code and the President's Re-employment Agreement. The major principle of collective bargaining is written into the Act and the support program of the League.

"The President's Re-employment Agreement and in some instances individual codes contain trade practice provisions looking toward that protection of the consumer which is the whole intent of the League's program of living costs.

"We are to be congratulated that we have now so much occasion to study the operation of a great experiment by the government and the people in reconstructing our economic life."

Desserts Important On Summer Menus

The summer dessert often fills an unusual place in the menu. Instead of being just a pleasant-tasting last dish, it can be the main part of the menu, furnishing the nourishment usually provided by meat and potatoes. A luncheon of hot or jellyed bouillon, a vegetable salad and rolls and a dessert made with milk and eggs and rice or tapioca is well balanced as to calories, mineral content and vitamins.

It is a saving of both time and money if the dessert of every meal is made to count definitely.

In summer the sweetness of desserts should be given careful attention. A very sweet dessert often adds much to the fuel value of a meal because sugar is a quick energizer of stimulant.

Chose a rice or cereal pudding when the meal has been lacking in bulk and breadstuffs.

Fruit Has Many Advantages
Fruit is a splendid dessert on several counts. The serving of fresh fruit saves time, an important factor in a busy mother's day. Fruit "cups" prevent waste on many occasions. Served in such combinations, no fruit need go begging because there is not enough to "go around."

Fruit juices stiffened by the addition of gelatin make fine hot weather desserts for almost all ages and types of persons.

Rice Pudding
Rice puddings always are acceptable and can be as inexpensive and simple as one wishes. When made with milk and eggs, they are especially suitable to serve after a summer vegetable-plate dinner.

Four tablespoons rice, 2 cups milk, 1 tablespoon granulated gelatin, 4 tablespoons cold water, 2 eggs, 1-2 cup boiling water, 1 cup sugar, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup whipping cream, 2 cups stoned cherries or any diced fruit.

Wash rice through several waters and cook in milk until soft. Add eggs slightly beaten and cook one minute, stirring constantly. Remove from fire and rub through a sieve. Soften gelatin in cold water for five minutes and dissolve in boiling water. Stir into rice mixture with salt and sugar. When cool add fruit and fold in cream whipped until firm. Turn into a mold and let stand on ice until thoroughly chilled and firm.

All Gums Require Regular Massage
Shiny, white teeth are something to make you proud. Dull, discolored ones detract from the charm of your smile and cause people to whisper that you aren't quite as fastidious as you should be.

Of course, you should brush your teeth two or three times a day. And the manner in which you brush them is all-important. Every one should have dental floss in the medicine cabinet in the bathroom and it should be used often. There are new toothbrushes which have hollow handles designed to hold a little dental floss. They're ideal for traveling.

Always brush your teeth up and down—downward strokes for the upper ones and upward strokes for the lower ones. That way you do not push the gums away from the teeth. Dentists tell us that pushing the gums away from the teeth sometimes causes serious gum disorders.

Your gums should be massaged occasionally too. Put a little tooth paste on your forefinger and carefully rub the gums around the bases of your teeth.

Choose your toothpaste for its cleansing and polishing value rather than for its taste. Ask

Fall Is The Time to Serve Some Of Those Nourishing Salads

Planning September meals is an easy task if you use imagination and originality. Each of the delicious fall vegetables tempts us by its own perfection, and fresh vegetables should continue to be stressed through this month and the next.

There are hot days when the appetite lags and nothing tastes so good as a substantial salad. Served with a cream soup, an unusual hot vegetable and a hearty dessert, a nourishing salad makes an interesting meal.

Stuffed Eggplant
The following rule for stuffed eggplant is sufficient to serve four persons. This dish is particularly inviting on a hot September moon.

One medium sized eggplant, 3 tomatoes, 1-2 cup fine dried bread crumbs, 2 tablespoons melted butter, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon minced green pepper, 1 cup chopped lobster or shrimp, coarse buttered crumbs.

Boil eggplant until tender. Drain and cut in halves the long way. Remove pulp and add tomatoes peeled and chopped. Add dried bread crumbs, butter, salt and pepper and lobster or shrimp. Fill the eggplant shells with this mixture, cover with buttered crumbs and bake in a hot oven until brown on top.

THE PRICE WE PAY FOR MACHINE POLITICS.

In all the noise that is being made about the mayoralty fight in New York City you can hear, if you listen closely, the ominous howling of a very cold wind—the coldest wind, perhaps, that has ever shaken the fabric of American democracy.

Back of the frantic negotiations, campaignings and wire-pulling of the New York situation, where the nation's largest city tries desperately to get Tammany off its back, there stands the simple and unpleasant fact that our system of municipal government has come perilously close to breaking down entirely.

New York is proving—just as Chicago and a host of other cities have already proved—that our familiar type of machine politics is totally inadequate to meet the problems of the modern world.

For a great many years we have innocently gone along, handing over our city, county and state governments, to men who quite frankly were not especially interested in good government, but whose chief concern was the building up of their own political fortunes.

The results were scandalous—but while times were good we could afford them, or we thought we could. The local government became the weakest link in the democratic chain, but the chain was slack during prosperity and no body minded very much. Now the chain is stretched taut. The weak link is being strained right to the breaking point.

Machine politics, in other words, is as anachronistic as one of Columbus' caravels. We have got to the point where we simply can't put up with it any longer. And what is happening in New York is an object lesson for the remotest county court house, town hall and state capitol in America.

Foreign observers have long predicted that if the American democracy broke down the collapse would begin with the municipal governments. Are we beginning to witness that collapse now? Is the cold wind that howls from Manhattan island going to be a destroying cyclone that finds us with no storm cellar handy?

Or are we going to have sense enough to clean house on all of our political machines; sense enough to stop listening to demagogues, to elect capable public servants instead of corruptible politicians, to demand service instead of fair words—and, thereby, to replace the weak link in the chain with one that will stand any pull?

OUR SCHOOL NEEDS.

Most school officials in America today would be struck speechless with delight if they could only manage to get enough money to keep their activities up to the average level of the past ten years. But two investigators of Teachers College, Columbia University, who have spent a decade studying the nation's educational plant, have just issued a report showing that that level, attractive as it seems now, isn't high enough.

The physical plant of our public school system, according to these investigators, is pretty badly antiquated. Eighty per cent of all rural schools and 60 per cent of urban elementary school buildings, their survey says, are unsatisfactory and need to be replaced by modern buildings which do not meet minimum requirements of lighting, ventilation, sanitation or safety.

This replacement job, of course, will have to wait. About the most we can hope for now is that our schools manage to keep open somehow. But eventually it looks as if we would have to embark on a huge building program.

The pony lifted high, until the lad cried, "Me, oh my! Please let me down. I don't like this. What have I done to you?"

"It may bring smiles to everyone, but as for me, it's not much fun. I've had a lot of crazy rides, but this is something new."

The pony snorted. Then it ran. "Hey, try to catch him, if you can," yelled Scouty. "He may try to take poor Duncy far away."

"Let's find a vine that's nice and long. One that will coil up and be strong. I'll try and pull a lasso stunt. What do you think says?"

"Oh, great!" said Doty. Here's a vine that I believe will work out fine. Come, help me pull it off the ground. We'll jerk until we're loose."

"I want to see brave Scouty's trick. I understand he's pretty slick at lassoing." It wasn't long till Scouty made a noose.

Then through the air the lasso flew and Goldy cried, "Goodbye to you, you crazy acting pony!"

Scouty's going to make you stop. The lassoing worked out just right. The beast was caught and held real tight. Then Duncy was quite startled when the pony let him drop.

He jumped up to his feet and said, "I might have landed on my head. I thank you, Scouty, for your act. You turned the trick just well."

"Now I suggest we let our hound jump on the beast and ride around."

"A grand idea," all the bunch heard little Goldy yell.

"Behave, or you will get a whack. This dog will sit upon your back. Said Windy to the pony. Then the dog was put in place."

"Now, run," cried Coppy. "Our fine hound, I'm sure, can hang on safe and sound." The pony did as he was told, at quite a speedy pace.

horses suspended from what the Baron had thought, the night before, to be a stump.

In a forest in Russia, the Baron met a beautiful black fox. The skin of this animal being very valuable, he did not want to tear it with shot. So, with presence of mind, he substituted a spike for the ball in his gun. Shooting with great care, he was able to nail the tail of the fox to a tree. From then on, it was a simple matter to whip the animal out of his skin, without harming a hair of the fur.

The Baron once saw a wild pig running wildly, with a sow following close behind. He took aim with his gun and fired. Although he knew he had missed his mark, the sow stopped in her tracks, while the pig ran on.

Upon examination it was found that the sow was blind. The shot had cut off the pig's tail, by which he had been leading the sow; and she, thinking her mate had halted, still held the severed tail. Munchausen had no trouble in leading the sow home.

No doubt the boys were a bit hasty, if not unfair, but it shows which way the wind is blowing today. Our realistic young folk will not stand for a religion of high profession and low performance, of hypocrisy on Sunday and hocus-pocus on weekdays.

Here is the new style, and a very good style it is, too. It holds that men who pray to God must not prey upon their fellow man, and it says so plain and flat. In other words, we must have an everyday religion, or none at all, since no other sort is real.

In the old days men were held to be heretics who doubted whether the whale swallowed Jonah, or wondered how God made the heavens and the earth in a forty-hour week. But today it is different; such issues have nothing to do with life as we have to live it.

The new orthodoxy turns things upside down as the old prophet did when he said, "What doth the Lord require of thee but to do justly, to love mercy, and to walk humbly with God?" Justice is the basis, fairness is first; then mercy, and finally worship.

By the terms of the Industrial Recovery Act, each trade must file a code. By the same token, if we are to have a recovery of religion, why not ask the church to offer a code, setting forth what it is going to do about the moral basis of business?

No wonder our young folk stand aloof and look askance. A religion without righteousness is superstition, if not a sin.

CHAPTER I

THE young man with the gray eyes, clean-cut profile and well-knit shoulders passed the pretty girl in Pullman 20 again.

Funny how she could still be reading the same magazine so well, so darned enthusiastically. He would have been cheered if he had known that the girl occupying the Pullman two seats in front of him was aware that he had passed to and from the observation car exactly two dozen times since they left Washington and that almost as many times she had stifled the impulse to follow.

It was plain that the observation car was interesting to the young man and just as plain that his interest was short-lived, once he reached it.

"Restless," Joan Waring decided, "and spoiled. Likes his way and generally gets it. If there were the slightest excuse, he'd be startin' something right now."

She smiled into her magazine just as the occupant of Pullman 24 swung through the coach again. He noted the smile and checked it up against her. Likes silly stories. If she didn't, why in heaven's name had she sat for two days with her particularly pretty nose in a magazine and those particularly lovely eyes upon it, refusing to meet his eyes once in a while?

What could you do in a case like this? Evidently his education had been neglected for it provided no expedients for such a situation except the time-worn ones which would, he felt sure, not work with this type of girl.

He grinned as he thought of the old methods such as: "I'm out of matches. Stupid of me, but if you—" That procedure had come in after the old handkerchief plan died of old age and abuse.

Some of the fellows at school had kept a regular supply of girls' handkerchiefs which often paved the way to a number of interesting adventures. The match idea probably had been outmoded too while he was grinding away at Boston Tech. Anyway, it wouldn't work. Not with this self-assured young woman who was so outrageously lovely, devastatingly different, and distractingly sweet with her gray-blue eyes, straight little nose and her dark hair.

BUT, with all the glamor, there was something sensible and genuine and matter-of-fact about her. He could like this girl. He knew it. Funny, how you could know things like that.

Just what would happen, he wondered, if he should walk up to her and say something like this—which, by the way, would be the exact truth:

"We'll be in Memphis soon—a city, I understand, of several hundred thousand souls. I am afraid that when you get off this train I'll never see you again and I want to tremendously. So I am taking this extraordinary way of meeting you. It happens to be the first time I've been such a darned idiot and opened a conversation with a girl."

Maybe she would light a cigarette, blow a smoke ring and say:

"I beg your pardon. Did you drop your handkerchief?"

SHE whirled, resentment in her eyes and in her voice.

JOAN WARING

companionably. "Sit down and let's talk it over."

But no—that would be just the thing she wouldn't do. She would probably think he was trying to concoct one of those silly affairs which had always disgusted him. His face grew red at the thought and he settled into his seat more comfortably, reaching for a magazine.

At the end of the half hour he gave it up because he realized that that one word was registering. He was simply mooning over an unapproachable young woman who looked as though she could be friendly and understanding and yet had maintained that consistent aloofness throughout two trying, yet strangely interesting days.

The porter had stopped and was gathering up his bags. "Coming into Memphis, boss?"

"On time, are we?"

"Yessah, we're right on time."

Robert Weston reached for his felt hat and overcoat, swung his scarf about his neck and moved toward the entrance. He stopped suddenly as the girl behind him came near.

"I beg your pardon."

Cheers. It had been a silly ruse, blocking the way. Probably she suspected—but it had worked.

He moved aside. "Sorry," he said it abruptly, at loss to seize opportunity now that it was presented to him. Others had pressed into the narrow passage and for a moment the girl was very close to him.

He watched her later as she selected her bag from the miscellaneous assortment outside, tipped the porter and followed in the wake of the red cap. Having identified his own baggage, he hurried after her, his long strides bringing him close again as she neared the gate.

"I beg your pardon. Did you drop your handkerchief?"

SHE whirled, resentment in her eyes and in her voice.

"I did not."

"I hope you don't think—" "It isn't necessary when things are so obvious."

Then, as her eyes fell on the handkerchief in his hand, her tone changed. "Oh," she said in confusion. "It is mine! How in the world—?"

Color flew to her face. She was sure he was thinking that she had invited this, resorted to the old trick.

She reached for the handkerchief, and then laughed suddenly. "You were silly," Bob said easily, falling into step. His eyes teased.

"Surely," he went on, "a young woman with so much worldly experience as you have evidently had—keeping your head when all about you men are losing theirs, as Kipling would say—"

"Is all that extravagant speech necessary?"

"What I mean," Bob ignored the remark, "is that you should be able to distinguish between the kind of men who wouldn't try to meet a nice girl except through conventional channels and—"

"Are there men like that?" His eyes glinted with humor, but he concluded firmly, "And the type who would resort to masher methods."

They were in the lobby now, and the girl lifted her eyes to his frankly.

"Well, as a matter-of-fact I didn't think you were that kind. It was rather a disappointment to believe you might be for a moment. But it is my handkerchief and so I'm sorry I was 'rude'—"

"Don't apologize," said Bob. "You see I don't deserve such kindness. I took your handkerchief from you as you were leaving the train."

"You took my handkerchief!" Amazement in her eyes. "I think you are perfectly outrageous."

"Of course. But it seemed to be the only way, if I were ever to see you again."

"Well, you won't!"

"Oh, yes. I'll ring every doorbell in Memphis until I find you."

"Ours doesn't ring."

"Then I'll use the knocker."

The girl raised her eyes to his, regarding him coolly. She spoke slowly. "I think you are the most absurd person I ever met and the most conceited to think that I—"

HER voice broke. She turned and walked swiftly toward the stair. Her eyes were shining. A girl with blond hair, a big chap and a delicate-looking youngster were coming to meet her.

"Joan!" It was a chorus from the newcomers.

"Pat, Bill, Benny!"

The blond girl was kissing her. So her name was Joan! He was following not too closely, when a voice hailed him: "Hi there, Bob Weston! Well, what do you know about this? What are you doing in Memphis?"

"Duke Turner!"

They shook hands.

"Last person in the world I ever expected to see! Say, Bob, where you stopping? Can't I put you up?"

"Thanks, no. I have a room at the hotel. But I'd like to be with you tomorrow. Say, Duke, wait a minute, will you? There's a girl I want to see—"

"Well, of course," Grinning.

Bob scanned the motor cars moving away from the curb but the quartet he sought had disappeared.

"Anything important," asked Duke, his eyes on Bob's sober face.

"Well, rather. Duke, do you know a girl named Joan?"

"Yes, of course."

"That makes it all right. You would know her—"

"Dumbbell! I know a dozen Joans in Memphis. Well, at least a half dozen. Joan Baker, Joan Richardson—"

"She has gorgeous dark hair and wonderful blue eyes."

"Umm. Joan Smith, the stenographer in the office next to ours, has black hair, but her eyes are brown. Say, what size do you think this town is anyway? Now, at Princeton if you wanted to find a Joan it would be a simple matter. A dozen fellows could help you. But really, Bob, I've grown serious and gray in the three years since we were at school and that sort of thing is rather out of my line now."

"Don't be a darn fool. This is no heavy date. This is a real girl."

"Oh, I see," his friend's eyes twinkled. "Well, in that case, maybe we could do something about it. Sure she lives in Memphis? Might be passing through, you know."

"Her luggage was marked 'J. W. Memphis.' Besides a flock of relatives met her."

Ten minutes later Bob was standing before a window in his hotel room staring out. But he was not thinking of the panorama spread below—the symphony of smoke and lights and buildings.

She had spirit, that girl. He liked that too.

Duke was thinking, too, as he guided his coupe through traffic along Union. This Joan. Well, if she knew what a break she had almost had! To think that Robert Weston, heir to the Weston fortune, and one of New York's most eligible young bachelors, was raving like a lunatic and threatening to turn the little old city upside down looking for a girl named Joan!

STRESS OF BIG SERIES IS NOW IN BOX OFFICES

Club Owners Concerned In Disposing Of High Priced Seats

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
New York, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Most of the stress and strain for the rival world series contenders will revolve around the box offices between now and the opening blast of baseball warfare at the Polo Grounds next Tuesday afternoon.

Joe Cronin and Bill Terry will be concerned about "keying" their players to the desired concert pitch. Old Gus Fan may be worried over who the Senators will nominate to hurl against Carl Hubbell in the opening game, as well as his chances of squeezing into one of the scant 5,000 bleacher seats at the Polo Grounds for $1.10. But the club owners today were more deeply involved in the job of trying to unload the high-priced tickets that mean profits for the climax of an otherwise lean year.

The chances of sell-outs, especially at the Polo Grounds, appear unlikely, although officials of both contending clubs insist the advance sale is "satisfactory" and a reflection of widespread interest.

4,000 Costly Seats
However, there are some 4,000 seats altogether at the Polo Grounds, exclusive of the small centerfield bleachers, to be sold at prices of $3.30, $5.50 and $6.50 before the "S. R. O." sign or its equivalent can be hung out. And they don't sell standing room for world series games, anyway.

The capacity at Washington, including extra stands erected in the outfield, is around 35,000. The prospects of a full house at the Capital seem proportionately better than in New York, where the big series is no novelty.

Nine years ago, when these same rivals last fought for the world championship, the top crowd at the Polo Grounds was 49,243, for the fourth game. The biggest turnout at Clark Griffith Stadium numbered 35,922 cash customers, at the second contest.

DAVENPORT IS BEATEN 2 TO 1 IN FINAL GAME

West'n League Champions In Neat Mound Performance

St. Joseph, Mo., Sept. 30.—(AP)—The St. Joseph Saints, Western League champions, last night defeated Davenport, Mississippi Valley League titlewinner, 2 to 1, to win the interleague series, four games to two.

The Saint victory was made possible by the four-hit hurling of young Ed Selway, a right-hander, who shaded Bob Lengquist in a neat mound duel. Lengquist gave up six safeties.

St. Joseph put over the winning runs in the eighth. Brucker was given a base on balls and McFarland sacrificed him to second. Bates reached first on Strothers' error and McIsaacs promptly singled to center, scoring Brucker. Bates tallied as Deurich reached first on Manager Dixon's error.

Until the last half of the ninth Selway had a two-hit game in his grasp. Then Davenport scored its only run. After two were out, Mizur single and was brought home by Dennine's triple to left center, the only extra base hit of the game. Selway struck out Strothers to end the rally.

If you have something to sell and are in a big hurry to sell it, let the classified advertising department of The Dixon Telegraph prove its ability as a speedy and efficient sales medium.

BRAVES MAKING BID FOR FIRST DIVISION BERTH

Boston Team Trying To Get Into Big Series Money

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
Lending a little interest to the otherwise dull closing days of the major league baseball season, the Boston Braves have put on a spirited drive for a place in the National League's first division and a slice of the world series money.

The Braves, pennant contenders only a month ago, have won four straight games in their related bid for fourth place and today were only a half game behind the St. Louis Cardinals with two games to go for each team. St. Louis still has a chance to beat Chicago out of third place and the Cubs, in turn, may move into second place ahead of Pittsburgh.

Encountered Difficulties

After running into various difficulties, the Braves finally won their second game from the Brooklyn Dodgers, 4 to 1 yesterday in a replay of the drawn battle in the second half of Thursday's double bill. It wasn't a hard one to win. The Dodgers tossed in four errors, three of which figured in the scoring; the Braves shelled Walter Beck and Emil Leonard for eleven hits; and Tom Zachary and Fred Frankhouse combined on a six-hit pitching job, the latter giving only two blows in 2-3 innings.

With the New York Giants again out to get a line on their world series rivals, the Washington Senators out loose with some more heavy hitting and loose pitching against the Yankees. Aided by a five-run rally in the fourth, when they bunched three hits with two walks and an error, and by a homer by Heinie Manush, the Nats pulled out an 8 to 5 victory over the Yankees. Earl Whitehill was wild and yielded four runs in the fifth frame. It was their first triumph since they clinched the pennant.

All other major league clubs were idle.

Expect Big Crowd To See Oak Ridge-Compton Tomorrow

The weather permitting, a large crowd of spectators is expected to assemble at the Compton diamond Sunday afternoon to witness one of the closing games of the season in which Manager George Webber's Compton Oilers will oppose Russell Warner's Oak Ridge team. The teams are about evenly matched and it will be their first meeting of the season. The Riders expect to present the following lineup: Carlson, P.; McDonald, ss.; Kehr, cf.; Miller, 3b.; G. Moore, 2b.; C. Kelly, 1b.; E. McGrath, rf.; N. McGrath, c.; J. Miller, p. Hilliker and McCannaghey, substitutes.

CHAMPIONSHIPS OF HITTERS ARE OUT OF DANGER

Klein And Foxx, Two Philadelphia Stars, Clinch Honors

New York, Sept. 30.—(AP)—The 1933 major league batting championships are safe in the hands of two Philadelphia players, Chuck Klein and Jimmie Foxx.

Just to make a "sure thing" a little more certain, both Klein and Foxx sputtered in the last full week of the campaign and lifted their unofficial averages far beyond the reach of all rivals. Klein, who has a strangle hold on the National League slugging honors as well as the base hit crown, sent his average up six points to .372.

Foxx picked up three points to gain a .356 average. He also crashed out home run No. 48.

Klein's teammate and chief rival, Spud Davis, followed along with a five point gain for a .348 average while Lou Gehrig of New York and Lou Appling of Chicago set the pace for a general rise in the marks of the leading American League "regulars", gaining six and seven points respectively. Gehrig thus tied Heinie Manush of Washington for second place in the junior circuit at .333.

H. S. STUDENTS HAVE PLAN FOR BUYING TICKETS

Commission On Magazine Subscriptions To Be Used

By Bradley Moli

In 1933 with the NRA taxing a lusty swing at the depression, it seems as though economy should play a vital part, in places where it could help people, rather than jeopardize buying, and in a certain locality of our own city we find such an effort being made.

Until next Tuesday evening, the housewives and residents of Dixon will be approached by students of the high school, and these students will be attempting to sell new subscriptions or secure magazine renewals, they need your help, and here's why:

The Dixon High School tries to give its students a varied program of activities, aside from the regular scholastic program. The purpose behind this schedule of other activities is to give students an opportunity to engage in various creative agencies, to assume responsibilities, to organize and conduct the business of various school organizations, and to develop a sense of loyalty.

Individuals learn by doing and by working in contact with other people. The program of activities includes football, basketball and track in the field of athletics; in dramatics one finds class plays, the Dramatic Club and opera productions; in public speaking there is debating, oratory, declamation and extemporaneous speaking; in publications or writing, the school publishes a school newspaper, which appears once every two weeks during the school year. Some twenty-five students work on this publication who later transfer, giving others a chance to get the extremely beneficial training.

All of these activities are sponsored by and worked on by the teachers of the faculty. Practically all of this assistance by teachers is volunteer work and requires a great deal of time outside the classroom hours, and for which they receive no added compensation. Expressing it in a different manner these teachers supervise and work in these fields, because they believe that these activities help and develop the student's ability and personality.

None of these activities are sponsored by the taxpayers' money, and their revenue and thus their maintenance is derived solely from the gate fees at the particular events. Naturally during the last two or three years, financial conditions have been of such a nature that it has been extremely difficult to maintain these activities on a scale which would give opportunities to many students. Last year the faculty made a plan whereby a steady revenue would come in for financing these activities, and at the same time give more students an opportunity to see football contests and other events. The basic idea of the plan was the very logical assumption that it is far better to have 400 students present at an activity each paying ten cents than only 200 students each paying twenty cents. Thus from this "idea came the Student Activity Ticket."

This ticket last year admitted the holder to all home athletic events, all home debates, all dramatic productions and gave the student the school newspaper for one year. The cost of the ticket, depending on the amount sold, and cost three dollars last year, a down payment of fifty cents, and weekly payments of twenty cents. Thus the student was enabled to see all the events of interest for just one-half what it otherwise would have cost. This plan doubled the student attendance and made it more regular. The income from the tickets was stable and the same, but twice the number of students were able to attend. This year the school is offering the same plan, with more extra events, and the actual cost per event this year is only 3 1-3 cents.

Through the cooperation of the Crowell Publishing Company it has been made possible to sponsor a magazine plan which will enable the students to use the commission gained through a subscription or a renewal, to defray a part of the cost of this Activity Ticket. These commissions if secured by out-of-town crews, are taken entirely from the community, thus no local benefits are derived. The students are now attempting to secure subscriptions or renewals and their commissions are remaining in the community. In addition to being used for their Activity Tickets, their assistance in paying for them will alleviate their parents to a certain extent, and may, in turn, help someone else. The students in this project are gaining experience in their own vass of Dixon, they are helping themselves, their family, the school, and the community. They are assisting to maintain these educational activities for their own benefit without spending one cent of the communities' money. Will YOU help them?

HARMON NEWS

Margaret McDermott

Harmon—The annual graduating services of the nurses of the Sterling Public Hospital were held at the Presbyterian church Sunday evening. There were three in the Class of '33, being Misses Francis Caroline Nice, Harriet Evelyn Shifler of Sterling, and Violet Mae Parker. The services were very impressive, and were attended by a large crowd. Rev. C. M. Irwin, delivered the baccalaureate sermon, and Attorney J. L. Ludens, president of the hospital, presented the diplomas.

Rev. Irwin took as his subject, "A Nurse Needed," and elaborated on the various phases of work which a nurse is called upon to perform. He classed nursing as one of the highest types of professions. In his discourse he showed clearly through the words in Matthew 9, that the welfare of the body is as important as the welfare of the soul, neither being possible without the other. Rev. Irwin declared that the new cry of today is that greater attention is paid to our bodies. It is important that we increase the average age beyond 56 years. To save, rather than to destroy is a crowning achievement, and in this the nurse plays a most important part.

In his talk, Rev. Irwin lauded the work of the medical profession pointing out the many heroic sacrifices which have been made in the interest of medical science. He linked the important part of the nurse very closely to that of the skilled physician or surgeon. He urged the members of the 1933 class to step forth and carry the standard of the profession in the high manner in which they have been carried out in past generations.

In his talk to the graduating class, President Ludens charged the members of the class that no matter where they were called, whether to the lowly house or gilded palace, that their duties and devotions must always be the same.

He expressed the good wishes of

Deputies Busy On NRA Codes

Officials most greatly concerned with NRA success are ignoring one of the recovery act's main points—that of working hours. The members of the class that no matter where they were called, whether to the lowly house or gilded palace, that their duties and devotions must always be the same.

Col. R. W. Lea, given one of the most difficult assignments, piloted the automobile code to adoption. He now is assistant administrator for the motor industry.

Sol L. Rosenblatt, movie administrator, between conferences, gave it as his belief that patrons would not feel the sting of higher prices as result of new cinema regulations.

W. L. Allen carried through the textile code. Since that time he has been engaged in work on codes for telephone supply and electrical fixture houses and the furniture industry.

A Good Time

Mrs. Clyde Speck delightfully entertained the P. T. A. Class of the Methodist Sunday school with an outdoor party at her home Friday of last week. Twenty-one attended.

During the course of the evening various games were played on the lawn which was lighted with Japanese lanterns. Much hilarity was derived from miniature golf, a treasure hunt, etc.

Mrs. Speck, assisted by Mrs. Kim and Mrs. Wilson served lovely refreshments. At a late hour the guests reluctantly departed assuring the hostess of a very delightful evening.

The October meeting will be held at the church.

Sunday's Game

Franklin Grove's baseball team went down to defeat Sunday when they met "Smokey" Joe Miller's slugging Oak Ridge team on the baseball diamond in Breunler's field.

Fighting hard all of the way the local boys put up the best defense they have shown this season. Phillips was the "spark plug" of the defense with several very good plays and two double plays. At bat the honors go to "Shires" Miller of Oak Ridge. Extra base hits by Franklin Grove were produced by Harold Zoeller with a home run, Roy Cook a triple and Brindle a single. "Don" Zoeller's fleet feet accounted for three stolen bases and it seemed he inspired a couple of the other players to attempt just a little more than their speed would permit, which cost the local team a couple of runs and ended the game with a score of Oak Ridge 7 and Franklin Grove 2.

Two base hits—Brindle, Kehrt, L. Miller, Lebre. Three base hits—Roy Cook, McDonald, L. Miller. Stolen bases—H. Zoeller, D. Zoeller, three, L. Miller, Lebre. Double plays—Phillips, Cook, Zoeller (2). Struck out—by Kenney 8; J. Miller, 3. Bases on balls—off Kenney, two. Passed ball—N. McGrath. Wild pitch—J. Miller. Umpires—Heckman and Vaupel.

The game next Sunday afternoon will possibly be the last one for the local team this season and will be played with Ashton at Breunler's field.

LOSS APPALLING IN HURRICANE 'EPIDEMIC'

SIX hurricanes of major intensity have swept sections of the United States, Mexico, and the West Indies in the last five weeks. Hundreds have been killed and injured and property damage has been high in millions. The West Indian hurricane is due, according to scientists, to a conflict of two systems of winds, chiefly from August to October. At that time the northeast trade wind belt shifts north of its average position. At the same time, the southeast trade winds have crossed the equator and have been turned by the earth's rotation into southwest winds.

Florida, Sept. 2-3—Little life loss, heavy property damage.

Texas, Sept. 4—Twenty two dead, 1500 injured, millions property loss.

Tampico, Sept. 25—Hundreds reported dead and injured. Heavy damage.

Cuba, Sept. 1-2—Eighty dead, hundreds injured.

Atlantic coast, Aug. 20-23, Sept. 16—More than 50 dead, millions property damage.

War on Insects Never Ceases

The fight with insects is a never-ending battle, says Tee-Pee Flashes. It is estimated that there are 120,000 species while the number of specimens of all kinds approximate 2,300,000, according to the writer. The termite pest is reported to do $30,000,000 worth of damage yearly in the South alone, while loss from rodents throughout the country is calculated at $300,000,000 annually.

Cheating the Devil

Among the many religious ceremonies held in Tibet each year, the most amusing one is "Driving out the Demon." It is a dice-throwing contest between two men, one dressed as the Grand Lama and the other as the Demon. As the Demon's victory would portend disaster to the country, the "Grand Lama" plays safe—with loaded dice.—Collier's Weekly.
